

The Moore Medical Excellence Award

This award for Outstanding Service is an opportunity to recognize a member of the California State Association of Occupational Health Nurses (CSAOHN) that has exhibited exemplary performance in operations, management, training, research, dedication or pursuit of excellence in occupational health nursing.

The Moore Medical Excellence Award established in 1998, demonstrates Moore Medical's commitment to occupational health nursing.

Objectives

- To recognize at the state level, outstanding service, accomplishment and striving for excellence in Occupational Health Nursing
- To encourage outstanding service by members at the local associations

General Information

The award recipient will receive a commemorative plaque and is eligible for additional recognition and compensation, as determined by the CSAOHN Board of Directors

Candidate Eligibility

- Minimum of one year (1) in the field of Occupational Health Nursing at the time of application
- Membership in CSAOHN

Application Requirement

- Candidate Statement: In a maximum of two typed double lined pages, describe professional and/or organizational service accomplishments, actions and goals
 - Pertinence to the profession of occupational health nursing
 - Contributions to occupational health nursing
 - Professional responsibilities/achievements
 - Activities or positions in professional affiliations
 - Collaboration, community or workforce service
- One Letter of Recommendation: Limited to a maximum of two pages.

The Award Sponsor

Moore Medical LLC is a leading distributor of medical-surgical supplies, equipment and pharmaceuticals in workplace health and has been serving the workplace health industry for over 60 years. Providing medical professionals with supplies and information is their singular purpose; ultimately, empowering their customers with the supplies, tools and resources needed to improve and support the health and care of patients. Over 120,000 health care professionals nationwide trust Moore Medical as a vital resource for patient care and business success.